PRINCE ELEVATED DRAMA | Model Plantation

Late Ruler of Saxe-Meininger Performed Service for People.

COURT THEATER AS STANDARD

Character of Stage's Offerings and Taste of the Patrons Improved Under His Patronage-New Duke is Popular.

RERLIN, July 18.- The death of the venerable Duke George II of Saxe-Meiningen, who was the oldest reigning price of Europe, has directed attention to his great services for the German stage. It may be doubtful whether any other ruler did so much to elevate the character of the stage's offerings and the taste of the people. The duke's interest in this line began in the sixtles, and the first dramatist to whom he turned attention was Shakespeare. In 1872, after the death of his second wife, he married Ellen Franz, a talented actress of the Meiningen court theater, and henceforth devoted all his spare time to theatrical affairs.

Shakespeare, Kleist, Schiller and other great dramatists were given presentations of a character far in advance of anything previously seen in Germany. In the seventles and eightles the "Meininger," as the court actors of Saxe-Meiningen were termed, were the criterion by which all other serious actors were judged. In his last year the duke became deaf, but his interest in the theater was strong un til the last

To Duke George the inhabitants of Saxe-Meiningen owe it that they are citisens of a sovereign of the empire. His father was a bitter enemy of Prussia, and when the war with Austria broke out in 1866, he abdicted in favor of George II in preference to joining forces with Prus sia, George, a warm friend of Prussia, promptly cast his lot with Prussia and thus saved Saxe-Meiningen from the fate that met Hesse-Nassau, the ruler of which, joining hands with Austria, lost his throne and saw his land become a Prussian province

Many Delightful Anecdotes. The newspapers have been producing some delightful anecdotes in connection duke's theatrical activities. Ludwig Barney, who has since became one of the leading actors of Germany, played Hamlet with the "Meininger" some forty years ago. At the rehearsals was the custom of the duke to sit alone in the audience room and make his comments from time to time on the work of the actors. In the scene of Hamlet with the players Bernay spoke in a rather careless, amateur manner the lines that Hamlet quoted from the imaginary play as addressed by Aeneas to Queen Dido. The duke was not pleased and remarked: "I think, Herr Barney, that this speech must not be spoken in such a trivial, con persational tone, but in a finer style." Barney answered that Hamlet was only a dillitante, and no actor, to which the duke replied that Polonius bestowed very high praise upon Hamlet's declamation. 'In my eagerness to defend my view.' says Barnay, I answered: "Yes, your highness; but Polonius was a courier, and such people always regard everything that a prince does as something wonderful." The duke's only reply to this sally was a peal of laughter than rang through the theater.

Paul Lindau, well known for nearly two generations of Germans as writer and theatrical manager, served the duke in the latter function in the early days of the "Meininger"; but after several years he came to the conclusion that the little town of Meiningen afforded too narrow a field for him and sent in his resignation. "A poet," he wrote, "needs the great offy: needs afrong impressions and this he can never have at Meiningen. Here my poetic gift is wasting away; I can do no creative work here.' duke accepted the resignation, but wrote on the margin: "Herr Lindau should go to Bauerbach; Schiller wrote his 'Don Carlos' there."

New Ruler Is Popular. Bernhard Frederick, the new duke, might have become one of Germany's throws a significant light on the attitude of those in authority toward the mistreatment of soldiers. The duke, who had but he declined on the ground that he taken part in the Franco-German war as a lieutenant, became later commanding the party which desired to force its canhe held this post a soldier committed by a noncommissioned officer. The affair, unfortunately by no means the first of its kind, drew from Bernhard a sharp order against such brutality. The order provided that every case of mishandling ceed Mr. Collings. A similar situation was to be reported to the general commanding forthwith and that the order should be read to all officers, nontommissioned officers and privates at least three times yearly. The order was generally acclaimed by the public, but it evoked the sharpest displeasure of the officer corps and of the reactionary press. Great was the astonshment of civilian circles a few weeks later when it was learned that Bernhard TALKING MACHINES USED had, in a personal letter from the emperor, been commanded to withdraw the order, and that he had thereupen resigned. His conduct evoked wide sympathy for his humanity and sense of justice, and he is still popular because of his stand at that time.

The new duke is all years old. He has found time, aside from his military duties, to make himself an authority in ancient Greek literature, and he bears the popular name of "The Scholar." He married in 1878 the Princess Charlotte of Prussia, eldest sister of the emperor.

American Muskrat Invades Germany

BERLIN, July 18.-The American muskrat is invading Germany. He has not come directly from America, but by way of Austria. About nine years ago a large landowner of Bohemia imported ten pairs of the animals from America and turned them loose on his estate, which lies some twenty-five miles from Prague. They propagated rapidly and soon overran all Bohemia. Recently they have crossed the Saxon frontier into Germany, and the Saxon frontier into Germany, and the Saxon frontier into Germany, and the second of the same and takes will be infested as only a question of time when all German streams and lakes will be infested with them. The spread of the animals is regarded with alarm by fishermen; for it claimed that, although a vegetarian in America, the muskrat has become carnivorous in Edforce, and the whole tribe of fishes, from the delicate brook trout to the heavy, mud-sodden carp, is preyed upon by it indiscriminately. Another of the evil habits of the animal is that he burrows income in the cause of the troubles. Don't waste time enders and removes the cause of the troubles of the animal is that he burrows indicate the compound in wholessis house. It is not a patent middless for the water. While the Aprican visitor the water. While the Au lean visitor was at first regarded as a valuable acquisition to the fauna of the country and was protected against poschers, there is now a general demand that it be declared an outlaw against whom everybody shall he invited to make war.

For Cotton Growing Proposed in India

LONDON, July 18 .- In the hope of ome day securing a raw cotton supply independent of America, the International Pederation of Master Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers' association has launched a scheme for the establishment of a model cotton plantation in Punjab,

LONDON, July 18.-All the British fleets and flotilias in home waters, which nowadays means practically the whole of the British navy, has been ordered to be at Spithead on July 17 to spend a weekend and pass in review before admiral of the fleet, King George V.

The mobilization, which is in the nature of a test, is this year taking the place of the usual maneuvers, which the present admiralty board has decided can teach the officers nothing that they do not know already, besides being a very heavy expense. The ships and auxiliaries, which will number some 400 craft, the largest fleet ever assembled, will include every class of vessel from the big dreadnought battleships to the smallest submarines, aeroplanes and hydroplanes.

The spot is an ideal one for the assembling of a great fleet, the one stretch of water in the world that seems to have been designed by nature as the frame for great naval pageants. It gives the public, as well as the officers and men. an opporunity of seeing the great fleet, the upkeep of which costs the British taxpayer so much, gathered together as though ready for actual warfare, for every ship will be so manned and outfitted that it could go into immediate battle. The reserves will be called out and the cadets from Osborne and Dartmouth colleges will be embarked, as they would in wartime, and after the king has concluded his visit they will go for a short cruise with the entire fleet.

Kipling Will Run for Seat in Parlament

LONDON, July 18.-While it seems settled that Rudyard Kipling will be a candidate for member of Parliament at the next general election, the unionist party has not yet found a seat for him. After his recent attack on the liberal government's policy, a speech which caused no end of comment in England, the Bordesmilitary leaders but for an incident which ley division of Birmingham, from which the Right Hon. PARIS, July 18.-The latest advertising scheme in Paris, recently launched in the depths of the subway, adds a new terror to underground travel. An elegantly dressed person, appearing at one of the main subway stations during the rush hours, carried a large leather case, apparently containing photographic appara-tus. He touched something at the end of the case, and a strident metalic voice of some talking machine began to recite a poem celebrating the artistic cut and perfect finish of somebody's clothes. When that was over the waiting passengers were adjured in the same tones of metalic thunder to buy a certain brand of choo

PANAMA, July 18-Officials of the govrament of Panama have had considerable amusement at the published reports in Europe and the United States of a proposal, originating in France, to make of Panama a rival of Monte Carlo. It is declared with much positiveness that such a scheme has never been thought of in Panama and that the establishment of a great gambling pavilion here would never be allowed.
